Stephanie Greenhow recently received her Bachelor's Degree from Strayer University with a concentration in Human Resource Management. Stephanie believes in giving back to her community and non-profit organizations hold a special place in her heart. She is very passionate about the things Breathing Blessings is doing for the underserved population in her hometown and surrounding areas, and she is excited for the future endeavors on the horizon. Stephanie was born and raised in Stafford, VA where she met Keeisha West who is the inspiration driving the organization. Honoring Keeisha's memory while serving and supporting her community is why she welcomed the opportunity to be part of Breathing Blessings.
